This privacy policy is intended to inform you about the processing of your personal data we carry out when you access and/or use our Products (the "Privacy Policy", the "Policy"). Therefore, it applies to all of your interactions with us via our Products, and your interactions with us in connection therewith. We advise you to carefully read this Policy to understand how we collect and process the data and for which purpose. If you do not agree to this Policy, do not download, use or access the Website.

This Privacy Policy applies to the processing of your personal data in connection with your use of the Products and your related interactions with us, including where you communicate with us or otherwise engage with us in relation to the Products through our communications or other business channels. 1. Identity of the Data Controller

We, 1inch, act as the data controller of the processing of your personal data. It means that we decide "why" and "how" your personal data is processed in connection with the Products.
To contact us, please refer to Section 11 (Contact us) of this Policy.

2. Categories of Data We Process

When you use the Products, the categories of data that we collect are the following:

Data you voluntarily provide to us when using the Products:

- any identification and contact data such as your email address, your name, and any other personal data you provide to us when communicating with us (in limited circumstances, e.g. when reaching out to our support service, applying to become a contributor, subscribing to the newsletter to receive information about the Products, services, features, and any other related updates);
- any data related to your use of the Products (e.g., wallet addresses (public blockchain addresses), transaction, and balance information (blockchain data) that is accessible when interacting with the Products);
- any personal data required to comply Due Diligence Checks, compliance procedures or verification requirements (in limited circumstances, when separately requested by 1inch, subject to applicable regulations).

In some cases, the provision of your personal data is necessary in order to provide you with access to certain products available via our Products and/or the information you request. In any case, we will inform you when the communication of your personal data is necessary.

We have no access to and will never ask for your private keys or wallet seed. Never trust anyone or any application that asks you to enter your private keys or wallet seed.

Data automatically collected when you use the Products:

We may automatically collect certain data, either directly or through third-party service providers, when you visit and/or use the Products. Such data does not reveal your specific identity (such as your name or contact information), but may include the following:

- Data collected by log files, including internet protocol (IP) addresses, browser type, Internet Service Provider (ISP), date and time stamp, referring/exit pages, and possibly the number of clicks.
- Analytics and data related to your use of the Products (e.g., IP address, MAC address, log files, domain server, data related to usage, performance, website security, traffic patterns, and location information).
- Behavioral data related to your use of the Products (including, in particular, and depending on the case, data related to how you interact with our Products, content viewed, features accessed, your status on our Products, such as Website/Products launches, taps, clicks, scrolling data, etc.).

Third-Party Services

We may integrate services and technologies from third parties into some functionality of the Products. For example, we employ Cloudflare's performance and security infrastructure as a proxy between you and the Products. As a result, when you initiate a swap request through the dApp, Cloudflare may collect your IP address. Please be aware that based on this data collection, Cloudflare may block access to the Services. For more information on the eligibility requirements for using the Products please refer to the 1inch.com Terms of Use.

Additionally, we use the services of several Remote Procedure Call (RPC) providers, such as QuickNode, Fastnode, Aurora Mainnet RPC, and zkSync Era Mainnet, to facilitate swap operations. The selection of the RPC provider is pre-set based on the blockchain network. When you initiate the swap request through our dApp, the RPC provider usually does not collect your IP address.

We may engage third-party service providers to facilitate the delivery of our communications. We may also use Beehiiv to distribute newsletters or other updates about the Products, related services, and features. For more information on how Beehiiv processes personal data, please refer to Beehiiv Privacy Policy.

For more information on how the third parties may independently collect and process information, we recommend reviewing their privacy policies and associated terms. Please note that we are not responsible for the data protection practices of any third party.

We also use cookies and similar tracking technologies to automatically collect data from and store information on your device when you use, access, or otherwise interact with our Products.

We may use Google Analytics to analyze user behavior on the Products. For more information on how Google Analytics processes your personal data, please refer to the Google Analytics Privacy&Terms.

Additionally, we may use Mixpanel to help us understand your interactions and preferences on the Products. To know more about how Mixpanel processes your personal information, please review the Mixpanel Privacy Program.

Should you wish to opt out of automatic data collection, you have the option to disable cookies. For more information on cookies and other tracking technologies, as well as instructions on how to disable them, please refer to Section 7 of this Policy (Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies).

Blockchain Data

Please note that we are not responsible for (i) your use of Ethereum or any other blockchain and (ii) the use of your personal data as processed in these decentralized and permissionless blockchain networks. Your private key which you utilize to access your Ethereum or other blockchain funds and initiate transactions is stored only on your own device.

You should also be aware that due to the inherent transparency of the blockchain networks, transactions that you approve when using the Products may be publicly accessible. This includes, but is not limited to, your public sending address, the public address of the receiver, the amount sent or received, and any other data a user has chosen to include in a given transaction.

Transactions and addresses available on blockchain may reveal personal data about the user's identity, and personal data can potentially be correlated now or in the future by any party who chooses to do so, including law enforcement.

When you connect a wallet and submit transactions via our interface, your request is routed through third-party RPC node providers (e.g., Infura, Alchemy). These providers may see your IP address and public blockchain address. We do not control their data handling — review their privacy policies separately.

In addition, we may process publicly available data, including information obtained through blockchain intelligence and analytics services. This may involve analyzing blockchain transactions, wallet addresses, domain names or blockchain naming-service identifiers (such as ENS names) associated with wallet addresses, and other data accessible on public blockchains or related platforms to enhance the functionality of the Services, ensure security, and provide insights into blockchain activities. Certain elements, when combined with other information, may reveal your identity.

We encourage you to review how privacy and transparency on the blockchain network work.

5. Transfer of Personal Data

As we operate globally, we may process your personal data in countries outside the European Economic Area ("EEA").

In these cases, we implement appropriate transfer mechanisms and safeguards to ensure that your personal data benefits from a level of protection essentially equivalent to that within the EEA. In practice, this means that each of the envisaged transfers is at least based on one of the following mechanisms:

- the existence of an adequacy decision issued by the European Commission for the country to which your personal data is transferred; or, failing that,

- the conclusion of the European Commission's Standard Contractual Clauses (EU SCCs 2021), combined with supplementary technical, contractual, and/or organizational measures where required following a Transfer Impact Assessment, which confirms the level of protection is essentially equivalent to that in the EEA; or, failing that,

- a specific derogation permitted under Article 49 GDPR. These derogations are applied only in exceptional cases, for example where you have explicitly consented to the transfer after being informed of the possible risks, or where it is required for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims, or where the transfer is necessary for legal requirements or important reasons of public interest such as compliance with applicable law obligations or lawful requests from government authorities or courts.

Information on the transfer mechanisms and safeguards may be requested by contacting us: please see Section 11 of this Policy (Contact us).

6. Data Retention Period

We retain your personal data only for as long as necessary for the purposes for which it has been collected, as specified in this Policy, and in accordance with the applicable laws.

This means that the retention periods we apply may vary depending on the purpose for which we process your personal data. When determining the appropriate retention period, we take into account the category and amount of personal data, potential risks and harm that may arise from unauthorized access or disclosure, the specific purposes for which the data is processed, the availability of alternative mean to achieve those purposes, and the applicable legal requirements.

We also retain personal data in order to comply with legal and regulatory obligations that may apply to us. Sometimes business and legal requirements oblige us to retain certain data, for specific purposes, for an extended period of time (e.g., to comply with regulatory and compliance requirements under applicable law, or record-keeping obligations imposed by applicable accounting, financial, or regulatory laws).

In some situations, we may anonymize personal information about you so that it can no longer be used to identify you. In such cases, we can use this information indefinitely without further notice to you.

7. Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies

Your rights under the General Data Protection Regulations ("GDPR")

In such cases, we will inform you of the reason why deletion cannot be performed..

- Right to restriction of processing – You may also request that we restrict the processing of your Personal Data on grounds relating to your particular situation. If we are unable to comply with your request to object, we will inform you of the reasons for our refusal. You can also object at any time to our processing of your personal data for marketing purposes.
